What if the most profitable product in history doesn't come from oil fields, gold mines, or Silicon Valley — but from your signature?

From ancient clay tablets in Mesopotamia to Wall Street trading floors, debt has quietly evolved into the most powerful business model ever created. It fuels wars, builds empires, drives consumer culture, and extracts wealth — all without producing a single tangible thing.

This documentary uncovers the untold history of how debt became the engine of global power:

How ancient rulers used "debt jubilees" to prevent economic collapse.

How the rise of the Dutch and British empires turned borrowing into a national weapon.

How the IMF and World Bank transformed loans into tools of economic domination.

And how the modern credit system turned ordinary families into lifelong customers.

Today, every swipe of a credit card, every mortgage payment, every government deficit — feeds the same machine. Debt isn't just a financial tool; it's a product engineered for perpetual profit, converting your time, labor, and future into someone else's income stream.

Understanding this isn't just history — it's financial self-defense. Because once you see how debt truly works, you'll realize the system was never built to make you free… it was built to keep you paying.

🏅 Discover the hidden mechanics of modern finance — and how to break free from them.
